Congratulatory Message from the Director of the State Institution "Agriculture Entrepreneurship Development" Respected Daler Satori, in Honor of the Tirgon Day

What a beautiful day Tirgon is for Tajik people, closely linked with unity, solidarity, peace, and prosperity. The month of Tir (Tirmoh) corresponds to the period from June 21 to July 21 – the time of the summer solstice.

During this season, yields of grain and fruits are high. The harvest begins, drenched in the sweat of hardworking farmers. Tirgon is the festival of wheat and bread, water and human prosperity, shining sun. Alongside Mehroon, Sada, and Navruz, it holds a place of honor among the magnificent celebrations of our ancestors, originating from ancient times.

Through their tireless labor and dedication to culture, our ancestors passed down to us a rich heritage of high and humanistic values. Full state independence has opened a new chapter in reviving traditions, national holidays, and ancient customs, breathing new life into them.

Thanks to the initiatives and continuous efforts of the Government of the Republic of Tajikistan, especially the Founder of Peace and National Unity, Leader of the Nation, President of the country, respected Emomali Rahmon, noble traditions, ancient customs, and national celebrations have been revived and preserved. This revival and civilization progress have allowed the Tajik nation to secure a special place on the international stage. The modern world recognizes Tajiks as people with a rich history and culture, possessing an ancient civilization, creativity, and humanism.

In today's globalized world, cultural festivals and traditional ceremonies serve as the most important unifying factor for diverse communities. Such celebrations awaken in the hearts of youth, adolescents, and middle-aged people a sense of patriotism, self-awareness, and self-identity.

Tirgon is the festival of wheat and bread, water and human prosperity, shining sun, the festival of summer, its revival is associated with the name of the Leader of the Nation, respected Emomali Rahmon.

On these joyous days, I sincerely congratulate all dear compatriots on the occasion of Tirgon! I wish you health, prosperity, happiness, and success, and may our independent Tajikistan enjoy eternal peace and tranquility!
